

Media Contact:

Lauren Russ

Connect Communications

773.972.7060

Lauren@connectcomsinc.com

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Topiarius Wins Bid to Provide Landscaping and Flowers for iLandscape 2017

Leading Urban Gardening and Landscaping Design Firm Leverages 14 Years of Experience to Deliver Unique Garden Experience for Guests

CHICAGO – February 1, 2017 - Topiarius, a leading urban gardening and landscape design firm, was awarded a contract by iLandscape, the largest trade show servicing landscape professionals in the Midwest, to deliver landscape and garden design services for the 2017 trade show at the Renaissance Schaumburg Convention Center and Hotel in Schaumburg, IL, February 1-3, 2017. iLandscape is presented by the Illinois Landscape Contractors Association (ILCA) and Wisconsin Green Industry Federation (WGIF).

“Topiarius is thrilled to return to iLandscape and lead the landscape design and garden installations at this leading industry event,” said Craig Jenkins-Sutton, co-founder and president of Topiarius. “We’ve put together a great team at Topiarius—including some of the best landscape designers and architects, and fine gardening specialists who were picked for the variety and strength of their landscaping experience.”

Topiarius will create a welcome garden near the entrance to the show that features a wooden panel oak tree. A membership garden area will include a membership club house built above ground on panel trees connected to a tree stand with a rope bridge. Guests can then take a rest or meet with vendors in the gathering garden, which includes a floating porcelain tile floor provided by Unlock and furniture vignettes supplied by Lloyd Flanders. The gathering garden will be surrounded by planters with CNC cut panels shaped like an elm tree along with lush plantings.

A cross roads garden will be built at the intersection of the main hallway and innovation ballroom, complemented by a tiny home from Titan Tiny. Topiarius will build the garden around the house with a cedar deck, planters, pergola and panel walls.

The garden stage in the main hall will include an open cabaret style stage area with a custom-designed and crafted chandelier standing 16' long and 5' high. The chandelier will be suspended 14' in the air and include LED lights painted in the 2017 Pantone colors greenery.

The remaining garden space will be surrounded with a mixture of CNC cut panel trees and planters. To educate attendees about the need to remove excess mulch built up around the base of their trees, Topiarius will post the hashtag #ExposeYourFlare on planters around the stage.

In the innovation hall, Topiarius will flank the area with upright pillars and a lush orchid planter display. Inside guests will be greeted with a customized 6-Panel LED light phasing wall, spinning carpinus panel trees and twig-style benches for seating surrounding the stage. Lloyd Flanders will provide additional seating.

“Landscape provides a rare opportunity to share their knowledge and identify the opportunities and barriers to success in the industry, as well as identify new trends,” said Jenkins-Sutton. “With the growth of landscape design and installation industry, this is the ideal show to gain new insights and learn new approaches to complement our work with customers.”

For 2017 garden and landscaping trends or to learn more about Topiarius, visit <http://www.topiarius.com> or @topiarius.

About Topiarius

Founded in 2003, Topiarius is a Chicago-based urban gardening and landscape design firm that offers landscape design and care from the construction of hardscapes and planting of softscapes, to regular maintenance, urban farming, and exterior and interior seasonal decorating/planting. Topiarius also provides regularly scheduled floral arrangements and interior plant rotations. For more from Topiarius, follow them on Instagram, Twitter and Pinterest, like their page on Facebook.

###